This is a direct point book. It's not a comforting book, but an awakening one that brings out and reviews facts and truths untold to the majority about the world of employment and financial life. Reading this book is at your own responsibility. Thank you.

Untold Reason #1

A Job Is A Liability

Of course, a job will help you survive today and with your family, but believing a job will support you for a lifetime, that's a liability, in fact thinking liability. Let's bring out more of this; first point is you cannot pass a job to your own children as an inheritance an asset.

Moreover, why spend years and years working on something that your children will not even inherit, and once you retire, you retire with it; or once you die, you die with it, or, what if you get fired? How will you survive more especially if you only dependent on a paycheck as the only source of income for you and your family to survive? These are important and honesty questions an employee must ask themselves while at a job, rather letting their life surviving under the name of a job.

Point: You cannot not leave a job for your children, it's a liability; in fact rich people build assets that their children will inherit or the next generation will inherit, an asset that will outlive them even when they died today; that's what the rich pass on to their child or children as an inheritance.

I love what the late great South African freedom activities, Steve Biko said, "It is better to die for an idea that will live, than to live for an idea that will die", indeed Mr. Steve died many years ago but his idea stills lives on to date.

Believing only in your idea of having a job as a way to success will not make you rich, but only makes the owner of the company successfully rich, and manly parents who die while working at a job, leave unpaid bills to their children, I am an example of this, my late beloved daddy worked in the Zambia Electricity Supply Company (ZESCO) for more than 18 years, but only left us, his 4 children with some unpaid bills, and still to date, many parents who were employees are still doing this to their children, as the time to leave this earth comes.

I am not saying don't get a job, but please, just don't get a job for lifetime, find something that will outlive a job, something that you will be passionate and proud of, even when you had no job today; find something you will leave your world about even if you had to die today or soon, and truth is, everyone is capable of leaving a legacy for their world as long as one is willing.

And always remember this parent wise advice, "It's not what I will leave for my child, but what I will leave in my child". In my book the "The 2 different world of mankind" explains the difference between what they rich and poor leaves for their children, for example "The poor leave a poverty mindset in their child, and the rich leave a rich mindset in their child", this is why you see poverty or riches are passed on from generation to generation in families; it's what you leave in your child or family; but the problem is you can't pass a job to your child, that's why a job it's a liability.

If you are a parent, think of your children or family as you do that job at that company; life is a project, please run it at a profit.

Untold Reason #2

You Can Be Replaced

No job is permanent, and they will never be; any employer who tells you such is just lying to you, not even in the government where it is said often, there is no such thing as a permanent job, that's just a manipulative technique they use to keep employees working insanely hard for the for so long, and that so long is for employees to pay more taxes.

More money through taxes and everyone is always replaced in the government no matter how many years that person works, they will always be replaced. Mind you employees pay highest taxes the most, and not the rich who pay the lowest taxes.

The untold truth today is this, said by Barbara Ehrenreich, "Employers have gone away from the idea that an employee is a long-term asset to the company, someone to be nurtured and developed, to a new notion that they are disposable". If you can be replaced, it's high time to prepare yourself for the unexpected, more especially financial preparation.

We all saw the 2008 retrenchment recession of Miners on the Copperbelt Province, in Zambia and the globally too, and it is happening soon; and today not only employees are replacing employees at jobs, but Robots and Computers are replacing and taking away human labor jobs rapidly, and please don't think if you have a job today, then your children or grandchildren will have that job, no; it's high time we had to make other plans for ourselves and the next generation change to come.

And if you and I don't fix this problem today of unemployment at personal level, our children will inherit this same problem we have today, this disappearing of jobs problem, you believe it or not, that's the fact.

Point: Instead of being replaced, let us replace ourselves with starting businesses either small or big business, investments either big or small, this is the mindset change needed today.

Just always remember that, every employee is replaced, if you are an employee now, you can be replaced tomorrow, think about this.

Untold Reason #3

You Become A Slave of Your Fellow Human Being

This might be harsh, but its truth; if you are an employee, you give your employer part or full of your power to control your time, and we all know that time is life, so that means that being an employee is giving your power your employer to control your life. That's why I said; don't get a job for a lifetime, because many have ended up giving a few people with companies in this world to control the majority of people's lives through jobs, through paychecks, and that's what is called civilized slavery today, meaning you have sold part of your life for money.

Remember that the definition of a job is “Showing up at the factory, following instructions, meeting spec and being managed”.

Don't spend years and years working for someone else when you can use those same years to start your own business and investments and use other people to work for you the way you are being used by your fellow your human-being, that employer.

Untold Reason #4

Your Employer Budgets For You.

How?

Within a paycheck, your budget is always limited within a paycheck, if you spend beyond your paycheck, you fall into debt, and many are into this problem today.

But truth is this it can be unlimited if you begin working for yourself, if you build your own business or learn to invest your money wisely, just look at how businesses are making a few people wealthy and how jobs are making many people poor? Many employees say not everyone can do business, but not knowing that selling your labor for a paycheck that's a business too.

But If You Have A Job Now, You Are Lucky,

How am I lucky?

That job you have now is capital to help you fund your own dreams, fund the business you might want to begin, so that you will be able to create more money and live the life you desire to live and not continual living the life of an employee of being controlled by your employer.

Please just don't make your paycheck an end to your life abundance, but a beginning to your life abundance; for example I have friend who I helped to build an internet business some years back, today, is doing fine and expanding his business, the owner of Elite Hype Limited, the company that runs the #1 advertising and entertainment website known as www.Zambianmusicblog.co in Zambia, he used his paycheck salary to build his company until the company begun making its own money; so you too can do it, you can use your paycheck, your job as opportunity to build a business that will create cash flowing in, and not just being limited to the budget of a paycheck or company.

Get this remembering reminder as employee, a paycheck is not there to make an employee rich, but to keep an employee working at a company so that they might not leave to get another job at another company; that's why employers uses this manipulative mental trap called job-security that doesn't exist, it's a tactic they use on employees to work for longer years, so that they can pay more more taxes many continuous years, just enriching others lives more.

Take your job as an opportunity to fund your dreams, and then step out of that job-cycle to live the life you have always dreamt of.

Please use a paycheck as a capital opportunity to open your own business and investments, don't be limited to a paycheck, they is more to making money than just being limited to a paycheck. A business will give you more opportunities to make money if you develop the capacity to grow it.

Untold Reason #5

You Do Not Own That So Called Your Job

What most employees must understand is that, the employer owns the job, the employer created that job.

And what we must understand the most is, “What was not meant to be yours, will never be yours” no matter how harder you work for it, for example I might work on a certain company for 40 years, but the job is for the employer, not mine, and one day I will leave that company, I like it or not; for such, time just comes naturally, that employee will leave that job.

It's high time we consider and think about this more honestly, and begin planning a plan B, just in case you get fired or you get sick for long, or get in an accident and unable to work at that job; your employer will easily or naturally replace you, and that job will no longer be yours, simply as I said, that job was not yours in the first place. I have been fired twice; I know how it feels to be fired from a job.

Let's learn to create our own jobs, rather than just looking for jobs that are rapidly disappearing and being replaced by robots and computers. The job you have now, your child or grandchildren might not have it tomorrow, so it's high time me and you, the person who is reading this book now, to think and offer some solutions for our future generation coming changes, simply if you don't fix it now, definitely your children will inherit it, you believe it or not. Let's learn to create jobs and not be owned by jobs which are owned by a few people in this world, more especially foreigners from other countries.

Untold Reason #6

More Often A Job Is A Short-Term Pleasure If Let, That Results Into A Long-Term Regret

After working hard for years for a company; you retire only to realize how much dreams, ideas and opportunities you have lost, that you thought you had to bring to life, and were suppose to be done when you where busy at that job. The problem is that the company or your employer uses your life-time and labour to benefit his business, to make himself rich, make his or her own dreams come true, and you are busy now losing out opportunities everyday that comes to make your dreams come true and live that life you always desire about by making someone else dreams come true simply because you are being paid; listen my friend, your life is way more important, valuable and richer than any paycheck your employer can pay you at any job you will ever be given in your whole entire lifetime.

“Your life is more valuable and important than money”

– Maradona Chalwe

Employees Awaken Please

We must understand that a job is a bribe they give employees to forget their dreams, but mind their employers dreams come true each day that comes.

Remember that time is the only opportunity we have now. So, stop wasting your lifetime on making others rich, and begin working to make your lifetime, your dreams successful. You can work at the job and later work on your dreams too; as your business dream becomes fulfilled you quit that job, and live your life. Your dream is your life, if you don't work on your dreams, then who will? Definitely no one, please make your life your business.

You might have the pressure right now on that job, but plan for the pleasure after you leave that job too; life is too short to live in regrets. Moreover there is no advantage in getting poor in old age, you become a burden to your community; and how many old people are a burden to today in our communities you come in contact with? I might not even go far, some of our relatives are a huge burden to our families today simply because they never planned their life wisely, more especially their financial life.

This is the only time you and me have today, to do something constructive for the future of ourselves, families and communities. The only future we have is now to plan it constructively.

Untold Reason #7

You Waste Your Every Day Money Making

Opportunities

Just by believing to make money through only a paycheck, you limit yourself from many other everyday money making opportunities.

A person who makes money every day and a person who makes money after a month are totally different in how they see each day that comes.

Entrepreneurs make money every day or almost every day, but an employee makes money after a month.

Today money is currency, money is always passing, and that's why we must learn to make money every day, the rich make money every second or minute, that's why money is called currency, the rich people understand money very well, than the employee who works for money. Learn more about money, there is a lot of information and people you can learn about money out there, just be wise to find the right ones.

Waiting For A Pension Is Old History

If it's those who wait for a pension, it's high time they had to think more deeper, you can't spend 35 years at a job waiting for a pension of k350,000 Zambian Kwacha $27,200, the money the small businesses are making in one year time, imagine that. That's I why I said that's losing everyday money making opportunities just waiting for a paycheck and pension.

For example you can't work 40 years making the government rich, and you only retire with k400, 000 Zambian kwacha as a pension, as said, when a small business can make that money as a profit in 1 year time. Think about how much money making opportunities you will lose in 40 years time? That's why a pension is an old history today. Moreover there's no such thing as a pension today, this is just a myth and joke today, though school conditions kids in school to be such an insane lie.

Please don't be a sacrificial lamb. Stop working your life hard on making others rich and successful, begin making yourself and family rich successful, making your dreams come successful, not only your employers, and the only time you have is now, to make that decision.

Conclusion

Please it's high time we took our lives seriously, moreover, no one will ever take our lives serious, if we don't. Why settle for little when the world is lavishly abundant with full of it all.

One guy said, "What you settle for stays with you. Why settle for average when you can be phenomenal? Why live in a chicken coop when you can fly like an eagle? You are the gate keeper of your destiny. Shut the door to ordinary and open your life to extraordinary". We have more inside than what we can imagine we have now, let's aim for abundance, we are abundance, and abundance is our birth right.

Thank You, Wish You All Best Abundance The With Your Life;
